

The Royal Academy of Engineering
Best Programme

Are you an engineering leader?

Do you want to enhance your degree and fast-track your career?
The Royal Academy of Engineering can help.

Whether you want to undertake a three year personal development plan or take a short course in project management, international development work or renewable energy technology, the Academy's Engineering Leadership Scheme is for you.

The scheme offers two kinds of award. A Standard Award enables you to take short courses to enhance your engineering knowledge and personal skills. An Advanced Award enables you to enhance your studies and personal development over three years.

Both Awards will help you expand your horizons.

The scheme is open for applications from August to December 2009.

Apply now. Visit www.engineeringleadershipwards.org.uk

Thank you to Shell, whose generous support has enabled us to extend this year's Engineering Leadership Advanced Award Scheme to include non-UK MEng students for the first time.